SATURDAY, APRIL 9 1892

TELEGRAMS

(via Galveston.)

Paris, April 8th—The Anarchists, Favre and Labastard, recently arrested for the dynamite explosions, were set at liberty to-day, sufficient proof to condemn them being wanting.

A telegram from Roubaix states that whilst a workman was examing a tin box he found in the street it exploded wounding many. An infernal machine was also found this morning in the house of one of the proprietors of a factory in Fournier.

Odessa, 8th—The transportation of Russian troops to the Turkish frontier is increasing. The garrisons of Karsolti and Ardaham have been reinforced. The Navigation Company of the Caspian Sea have received orders to have all their transport vessels ready to carry troops in Turkestan.

Berlin, 8th—The extradition Treaty between Germany and the U. States is nearly arranged. The Treaty now contains many more additions to the crimes already specified in it, among which are robbery, perjury and mutiny.

St. Petersburg, 8th—The Minister of the Interior is preparing a new law to curtail the rights of foreigners who live in Russia. This law forces any foreigner who purchases land in Russia to take out a naturalization paper within the term of three years, or otherwise leave the country. Foreigners are also obliged to learn the language and the fundamental laws of the Empire and will be considered citizens after a residence of five years.

Olean (New York) 8th.—A terrible cyclone here last night destroyed ten houses and a church. Many persons killed and wounded.

Tripoli, 8th.—Several disturbances have taken place here arising from disputes in the sale of gold and ivory.

Vienna, 8th—A bill has been laid before Parliament to stop the immigration of young men who by this means escape military service.

Brussels, 8th.—The Belgian explorer Duvivier has left for Wadelai to insure the stores of ivory of Emin Pasha, who arrived at that Central African Sation some days ago.

Moscow, 8th.—The war party has suffered a disappointment, through Count Shouvaloff, Russian Ambassador in Berlin, and Prince Rostooski, Ambassador in Vienna. It is now certain that there will be no war this Spring.

Hamburg, 8th.—A collision is reported at sea between the steamers Hausa and Falkenburg. The first sank and seven of the crew were lost. The British barque Erato, Captain Jones, which arrived here on March 12th from Iquique, foundered with fifteen persons.

New York, 8th.—German statistics on the import trade here, show a marked decrease in the first quarter of the year.

Vienna, 8th.—The population is uneasy owing to the frequent fires in the city of late, and which are thought to be the work of the Anarchists. Two more houses were destroyed to-day.

THREE DAYS LATER.

(From our own Correspondent.)

London, March 15th.

There was a little "boom" yesterday in Argentines and Uruguays. The circumstance is variously reported. The Financial News and the Times refer to it casually as a fact, for so much as it may be worth, whilst the Financial Times and Daily News speak of it with more enthusiasm. It was not essy to discover the cause of the sudden manifestation of faith in River Plate securities, because simultaneously with the rise in prices, there were renewed rumours of the collapse of the firm of Murrieta and Company and a rise of at least one point in the premium on gold in B. Ayres. It seems to have been finally agreed that the "boom" in Argentines was due to the appointment of Señor Uriburu as Minister of Finance. He is supposed to be one of the honest men in the Argentine Republic, and is known to have separated himself on a previous occasion from the Celmanites. So, in an otherwise weak market for foreign stocks, Argentines became the one strong and interesting feature. The Funding loan was put up 1¼ to 58, while the 1886 loan is ½ up to 66. National Cedulas were also in demand, Series A rising ½ and B ¾. The Railway stocks were in marked favour, B. Ayres Great Southern gaining 7, Central Argentine, B. Ayres and Rosario Ordinary 3 each, and B. Ayres and Pacific 1. London and River Plate Bank shares are up 3 to 25. "We remarked," says the Financial Times, "not very long ago that one of the stocks that would benefit most from any real improvement in the Argentine position was Central Argentines, and now our words are verified. A fortnight ago the price was 10 points lower, and now as the right people are buying, the improvement seems by no means exhausted. Seeing that the quotation in the old days of the Argentine boom was about 220, there is still at 64 considerable room for a rise without getting to dangerous heights."

The same journal says, "Uruguays were well supported, advancing 1¼, to 38¾. We are informed that the remittances to meet the coupon are being punctually and fully paid so that there is not the slightest chance of a hitch when the time comes round."

The Daily News says that the activity in Argentines is attributed by some to anticipations of the speech to be made by the Governor of the Bank of England the day after to-morrow.

If that were all, I should not think much of the permancy of the boom; for the "Governor" has moral liabilities to get rid of. I would rather pin my faith on Señor Uriburu. He has the reputation of being as clever as Hercules in not fiddling with the cleaning of stables, but turning rivers through them.

"Things in the Argentine," says the Times city article, "are certainly mending, but the process is likely to be a slow one."

How far syndicates and issuing houses and bank governors are instrumental in fanning the "boom" we do not know, but I see the tape—5 p.m.—says nothing of South Americans and reports "foreigners" lower. As this is an early post I cannot give you to-day's quotations.

The excellent and most respected old musician, Signor Alberto Randegger, has got his decree nisi against his wife, and her paramour Hayden Coffin, who delights the Dolly Mop world with his singing in English opera. Mr. Randegger was born in Trieste but he received his musical education in Italy. One of his masters was Luigi Ricci. He is now a naturalised Englishman. He came to this country in the fifties and all went well till he married. His wife was a professional singer, Madlle. Adeline Marie Leeux, and much younger than himself, and pretty. You don't want to know the rest.

The coal crisis is still the absorbing topic. Mr. Wood, the local chief of the Lancashire federation of Colliers and vice-president of the general federation, has been interviewed by the Rev. Mr. Aked of Liverpool, who reports in the Pall Mall Gazette. From that interview we can only gather that the men are firmly persuaded as to the justice of their demands and are equally sure of success. There is no ill feeling between the men and their immediate employers. A vague notion in regard to overproduction and to something that stands in the way of a fair day's wage and work has taken possession of the men's minds, who in certain cases are more likely to be right than arm-chair economists. Mr. Wood refuses to say anything as to the probable duration of the strike until after the meeting of the miners which takes place on the 17th inst. He does not seem to think so seriously of the strike—at present virtually confined to Durham—as others do. His opinion is partly supported by the quietude of the London coal market, which if anything is rather easier than it was last week before the strike was declared. On the other hand, a potent fact in regard at least to the sequels of the strike is that the Great Eastern Railway has stopped 180 trains! The public, say some, do not know how serious this strike is and how serious its results may be. It has successively been a question of 200,000, 500,000 and 700,000 men out of work; and to-day they talk of 900,000 men being now or hereafter included in the present strike of the Durham men. The other day I said something about royalties, lordships, way-leaves etc. Have the goodness to turn to the special correspondent's letter in to-day's Daily News from Newcastle to see what all that means. Coal, which to the London householder costs from twenty two to thirty three or thirty four shillings a ton is "got" for him from the "face" by the miner for much less than two shillings a ton. In its journey from the seam to your grate, from the half-naked, blackened, sweating miner to the neat servant maid who lights your fire, many and heavy tolls are levied upon it. The Dick Turpins, the black mailers, are not the coal owners but rich men, lords of the soil peers of the realm, to begin with, who levy their shilling or eighteen pence a ton royalty whether the mine pays to work or no; and they make an extra charge for "way leave" that is for allowing the coal to pass through some body's land on its way from the pit to the railway.

"Deeper and wider every year" says the News' correspondent "among the miners of Northumberland and Durham grows the hatred of landlord—made laws, which between royalties, way-leaves and fixed rents burden every ton of coal"......

An Ironmaster who in consequence of the Durham strike is about to blow out his furnaces writes to the papers as follows:—

"Why should these colliers be asked for a reduction of wages before an attempt has been made to get a reduction of the enormous royalty rents paid to landlordims for the right to get coal? Some of your readers will understand what a tax on industry are these heavy royalty rents when I tell them how it touches me and my men. My furnace produces 50,000 tons of pig iron per annum. The royalty rent paid to landlordism for iron, on coal and limestone to produce 50,000 tons of pig iron is 6s. per ton or £15,000 per annum. The wages to all the men employed at the furnace are 3/s per ton or £7,500 per annum......................" and so on. Why more? The Coal-owners Association in Newcastle have issued what is apparently a fair statement of their case in their dispute with the miners. It is a history of the raisings and reductions of wages on the sliding scale system since 1871. It is a business-like document and, as you will see, occupies more than a column of to-day's newspapers. It seems natural that, if the coal owners raised the wages 30 per cent when trade was brisk, they may be allowed to lower them 5 to 10 per cent when—as they say—prices are low, as at present. It is a big question interlaced with many large industries as well as with the burning questions of sociology, and it becomes day by day more obvious that to get at the source of it we must leap over the accumulated coal-stacks the owners want to get rid of and jump into the boudoirs and gunrooms of the "Stately Homes of England," every chiselled stone and carved timber of which we worship as Jews worship their ark or tabernacle. To the divine girl who is eyeing us and the lordly youth who yawns at us we say: "Look here; we know you are a sight better than under-sized, underbred, ill-mannered folk like us, and we should like to keep you as models in an exhibition, but you cost us more than our year's wages, and we cannot afford you." The divine girl replies: "Pá says, for what you take from us, you'll have to pay." "Lor bless you, Miss," we say, "don't use bad language, don't speak of "confiscation," or employ the word "compensation," which is no longer in our dictionary. It is not our fault you are as you are, or that we are as we are." As the Buenos Ayres STANDARD said on a memorable occasion, "one of us must go". "

JUDGE TEDIN'S SENTENCE.

The following is the substance of Judge Tedin's sentence, ordering the release of Drs. Alem and Molina.

B. Ayres, April 5 1892.

In view of the application for Habeas Corpus, filed by the National Senator, Dr. Leandro Alem, and by the National Deputy Dr. Victor Molina, and since it appears from the report of the Chief of Police that Drs. Alem and Molina were arrested and sent on board the cruiser Argentina by direct order from the President of the Republic; and considering that all the efforts made by this Court to send a writ to the Commander of the Argentina have proved fruitless, as the authorities refused to allow any writ to be forwarded to the vessel in question, and furthermore considering that

1—The President was under the impression when arresting Drs. Alem and Molina that he was availing of the faculty defined by the 23rd Article.

2—That this article authorizes the President, in cases of internal commotion or foreign attack endangering the constitution to arrest persons or send them from one part of the Republic to another, in the event of these persons not wishing to leave the country, which constitutes an absolute limitation of the powers of the President of the Republic in regard to persons durign a state of siege (Act 87 of the Constitution.)

3. That studying the article quoted by the light of principles connected with other provisions, it is easily seen that the suspension of constitutional guarantees applies to private persons not enjoying any special privilege.

4. That, according to Act 61 of the Constitution, no senator or deputy can be arrested unless caught in the act of committing some crime punishable with death.

5. That it cannot be admitted that the suspension of constitutional guarantees implies the suspension of a special privilege established in favor of certain classes such as the members of Congress.

6. That this privilege of the national legislators is so essential for the genuine expression of the will of the body and even for its existence, that in many cases the arrest of one member of either chamber is sufficient to paralyse the functions of the Legislature. (Kooley in his Treatise on Constitutional Limitations maintaints that the privilege of a legislation is not only the privilege of the Legislature but of the people.) Story says:—

§ 859. The next part of the clause regards the privilege of the members from arrest, except for crimes, during their attendance at the sessions of congress, and their going to, and returning from them. This privilege is conceded by law to the humblest suitor and witness in a court of justice; and it would be strange indeed if it were denied to the highest functionaries of the state in the discharge of their public duties. It belongs to congress in common with all other legislative bodies, which exist, or have existed in America, since its first settlement, under every variety of government; and it has immemorially constituted a privilege of both houses of the British Parliament. It seems absolutely indispensable for the just exercise of the legislative power in every nation, purporting to possess a free constitution of government; and it cannot be surrendered without endangering the public liberties, as well as the private independence of the members.

§ 863. The effect of this privilege is, that the arrest of the member is unlawful, and a trespass 'ab initio' for which he may maintain an action, or proceed against the aggressor by way of indictment. He may also be discharged by motion to a court of justice, or upon a writ of 'habeas corpus'; and the arrest may also be punished as a contempt of the house.

7—That it is quite sufficient to bear in mind that the Deputies can impeach the President and his Ministers, and the Senators try them, to understand that the power to arrest does not apply to the Legislator.

8—That the faculty the President has used of imprisoning members of Congress is contrary to the constitutional precept, (Art. 67) which gives this power the faculty of approving or suspending the state of siege declared during its recess by the President, because it is there that the Nation, through its representatives, examines the reasons which have prompted the suspension of guarantees, a mission that Congress could not fulfil properly were the President permitted to arrest any of its members.

9—That, to justify the President's interference with the other Powers of the State, it would be necessary to insert a clause in the Constitution, declaring—as in Chile or Honduras—that during the state of siege, the Constitution is suspended—which would imply dictatorship, an idea that was never entertained by the framers of our constitution who on the contrary stigmatised all who should consent to such an assumption of power as traitors to the country (Art. 29.)

10—That North American jurisprudence in this respect may differ from ours, since in determined cases in that country the arrest of Congress members is possible, even without a state of siege, for the first article of the North American Constitution establishes as exceptions to Congressional privileges, treason, felony, or breach of public peace, whereas our constitution only allows an exception in the case of a member being caught in the act of committing a crime punishable with death.

11—That neither Senator Alem nor Deputy Molina was arrested in the act of committing such a crime.

12—That according to Art. 20, of the Law of Jurisdiction, the sectional judge, at the instance of the prisoner or the prisoner's friends, is bound to examine the causes of arrest, and in the case of these causes being insufficient, order the release of the prisoner.

For the foregoing reasons my sentence is that Senator Alem and Deputy Molina be allowed the privilege of "Habeas Corpus," and in the name of the Constitution I order their release. Let the War Minister be notified, in order that the order be transmitted to the commander of the cruiser Argentina.

In regard to the applications filed by Drs Castellanos, Liliedal and the other gentlemen under arrest, Judge Tedin finds there is no ground for an application for "Habeas Corpus."

In reply to the Judge's first sentence, the Government, through the War Office, replied on Thursday night in an extensive document. The War Minister states that he is directed by the President to inform Judge Tedin that the sentence cannot be carried out, since it amounts to an encroachment and to a disregard for the powers of the President of the Republic.

PERSONAL RECOLLECTIONS OF THE SOUTH AMERICAN NATURALIST.

The death of "Amazon Bates", as the press, and the scientific world, chose to call him, well merited the eulogistic mention, bestowed upon him, in one of your recent editions. It is strange so little of him was known in South America, where for quite a lengthened period of his life, his greatest work lay. From the deep interest I know you take in the development of this part of the continent it occurs to me, you would be pleased to hear some personal recollections of any past celebrities I have personally met. One of these was "Bates", a man of very uncommon type, though most unobtrusive. Darwin's appreciation, that after Humboldt, 'Bates' on South American forest life, and natural history 'facile princeps', comes second, is just. Wallace recognised the good work done, in fields wherein he is himself no mean authority, and since Bates's published work no man has assumed his mantle in this quarter, or aspired to the role of explorer. In the spring of 1863 I became interested in his then newly published work "The Naturalist on the Amazons," Reading almost like a romance, he was considered by some as a Jules Verne, by others classified as a modern Baron Munchausen.

Personally it impressed me greatly, by its simplicity in description and minuteness in detail. During some years of a residence, in the district described, I became better enabled to truly appreciate the exact and truthful labour spent on the work. The self sacrifice necessary to effect the observations made, the strength of character, and perseverance, under multitudinous difficulties, to be overcome, and obviated, all thrust themselves before me, raising my admiration of Bates to something akin to reverence. All he personally described as having seen, and which I had the good fortune to reverify by a personal inspection, left nothing to add to, on the head of clearness, or truthfulness. Where referring to his own personal exploits, he was modest to a degree, and all his references to natural scenery prove him to have been an ardent admirer of the beautiful in nature, and a careful interpreter of her moods and fancies. Some years afterwards I made his personal acquaintance. During a discussion in London, in which the fate of the traveller Livingstone was the topic, I sustained the opinion in 1866, that he was alive and could be found. I also volunteered to solve the task, giving my personal service gratis. Bates heard of this, and sent for me. He was at that time secretary to the Roy. Geo. Society. I also was pleased to make his acquaintance, which took place in the secretary's room of the Roy. Geo. Society, London. One bright spring morning I found myself in a comfortable, well furnished office, and a friend introduced to me as Mr. "Bates," a rather small, spectacled, very swarthy-complexioned, whiskered and moustached man. His figure and appearance did not come up to my measure of the heroic. But the kindliness of expression beaming through a pair of piercing dark eyes, with the intelligent and sympathetic greeting, at once dissipated all feeling of disappointment, and also set me completely at ease, whilst he at once plunged into forest details, of tropical America, the negro, Africa and Livingstone. A series of leading questions, quickly followed up by little incidents in his own travels, rapidly and concisely related, led to a request to relate to him some episodes in South American exploration. He listened with much interest and attention, increasing to excitement as the narrative went on, until he at length in excitement rose from his chair, his eyes streaming with tears of excitement: grasping my hand, he excused himself by assuring me that the pleasure awakened in his mind by the rehearsal of bygone sights and pleasures was more than his equanimity could support. He held my hand in his own, and then asked me as a very special favor, that I should make him the personal medium through which my volunteer offer in favor of Livingstone should be made to the Society, and to accord him a fixed term to present it, to which I at once assented. Time passed and with it came the answer. The prelude of the letter, for I was then distant from London, was sad and apologetic, while relating that his mission had failed, and that time would convince them of the error they had committed. But when he turned to criticise the matter, his language was that of burning contempt. It would lead to nothing entering into their reasons. But the subsequent finding of Livingstone and the traveller meeting him in London must have been a pleasing amende. Bates's sympathy with a traveller, and natural history, was as certain as the pointing of the needle to the pole.

Another labourer in the same field was Belt. Thomas Belt, Chontales Belt, for by these names was he known, also did master work in South and Central America on the same lines as Bates. In the school and in the wake of Darwin and Wallace he went strongly for the elucidation of the doctrine of evolution, variation, imitation or mimicry, which he illustrated in a masterful manner through his natural history collections and clear description of the adaptation of insect and bird life to the various necessities of circumstances and place in the struggle of life, which he found evidenced in tropical America. Belt, a mining engineer by profession, came recommended to me, as an enthusiast in natural history. In physical aspect and in temperament he was the antithesis of "Bates;" of noble and sympathetic aspect, his manner was gentle and unassuming. Benevolent in disposition he was determined in purpose. Altruistic in style he was an indefatigable worker. The inner world will more readily measure this when I say that his work in natural history in America was done during his leisure hours from his business work. During these hours the net was at work, or the collecting boxes were overhauled and revised. Specimens, with descriptions, drifted off to Europe, accompanied by interesting data as to evolution, variation, habits etc. etc. of the most detailed and interesting character, all noted with a care and precision which was remarkable. He never could recognise why I could watch him with so much attention, aid him so willingly, enter into his aims, suggest to him a fresh conquest and yet fail to imitate him and turn collector. Oft times with a promise to name some new find, in memory of some anticipated new insect I was to discover, he calculated my ambition had been excited and my good will captured only to find to his disappointment, I was only a sympathising onlooker: my apathy served as a foil to his own enthusiasm. He did his work in Brazil well. He left, and afterwards enlarged his fame farther north. I remember well his enthusiasm for the beautiful in nature. It was in no way second to Bates. Our parting at a great bend on the southern bank of the Gurupy River, afforded an opportunity rarely given to human eye to behold. At that bend on the river, there twice as broad as the Thames at London, the bank rises with a gentle slope on both sides from the river, each clad with great and majestic trees, rising like a mighty wall from the water's edge, festooned to their very crests with varied green-leaved creepers, decorated with gorgeous flowers of rare colours, blue, lilac, yellow, and pale white, whose perfume loaded the thin veil of vaporous mist reaching from the water level nearly to the tree tops, where the morning sun beamed bright in a clear atmosphere against the blue of which winged bands of great macaws, parrots, parroquets, and other beautiful plumaged birds, blazed like gems in a jewel, whilst in the screams and chatterings they parted, in quest of their daily food, or descending, prepared to skim the still vaporous and glossy surface of the placid broad water, whose upriver prospect was lost in a fine, blue, misty veil, embowered in forest shade. Down river the waters ran through a similar prospect. From one vantage point was added the singular beauty of a soft, swift fall, through a series of rounded granite boulders, (a rapid, or cae hoeiree), amongst the crevices of which grew numerous dwarf trees, bedecked with parti-coloured flowers, from the branches of which hung numerous nests of purselike shape, out of which darted fairy-like birds of black and bright yellow plumage. The scene was weirdly beautiful, the stillness, save the scream of the wild-bird, or the soft gurgle of the water, was unbroken and awe-inspiring. Amongst our feet the crushed blooms of the 'trinia Americana' shed theirsweet voluptuous perfume. All nature was ravishing. Belt looked around in dazed and absorbed admiration, language was lacking to give expression. The countenance beamed with what the tongue lacked utterance. "Good bye, till we meet again," sadly spoken, a parting shake of the hand, one long shove with the boat pole—the canoe ran out into the stream, where the fine, mild current swept them quickly down. I turned musingly into the forest; Belt, to finish his work elsewhere, after which, like Bates, he has gone over to the majority, whilst I remain to write and ponder the "good bye, till we meet again".

PROVINCIAL NEWS.

Advices somewhat of an alarming tenor were received yesterday from Sugary Tucuman. It seems that on the night of the 5th a band of "montoneras," enterprising gentlemen who combine with advanced political principles certain medieval notions of meum and tuum, in other words political banditti, invaded the south of the province and instinctively attacked the police-stations. The Intendente of Police, taking in at a glance the extent of the danger and feeling the great responsibility weighing upon him, said good-bye to his family and called out 20 soldiers, at whose head he sallied forth to repel the "montoneras." Fortune, in the fight, smiled on the cause of peace, and the banditti were put to flight, 9 of their number falling into the hands of the victorious police. The banditti were armed with Remingtons. It is supposed that these fellows, thinking that a revolution had broken out, came to the conclusion that the moment had arrived for the regeneration of society. It took a man like the Tucuman Intendente to put the rascals to flight. The montoneras are now prowling about Catamarca, where the police are making preparations to attack them. The authorities ought to make an example of the nine taken by the courageous Tucuman Intendente.

The raisin is the latest instrument for raising the wind. The San Juan Government has decided to levy a tax on raisins. Mendoza we presume will soon replenish their empty coffers.

Advices from Dolores, Prov. of B. Ayres, state that on Tuesday morning, as the editor of the Patria was inditing a vigorous article on the political situation, the local commissary knocked at the door and entered with three policemen whom he introduced as his most trusty assistants to the editor. The ceremony of introduction over, the Commissary then informed the editor that the Patria must suspend its issue until further notice. Our contemporary protested and called the Commissary's attention to the great inconvenience and possible injury to trade such a measure would involve. But the Commissary was inexorable, and the editor "ne'er consenting, softly whispered yes." No sooner was the Commissary out of sight than the editor hurried to the judge's house, and a beautiful conflict of authority was in full swing before nightfall. The police refused to give any reason for their conduct. In the meantime, to avoid possible injury to trade interests, the Patria made its appearance the next day with nothing but the trade advertisements as reading matter.

NEW AMERICAN TARIFF BILL.

THE DUTIES ON WOOL.

Washington, February 14.—The Democratic members of the Committee on Ways and Means have determined to revise all the rates of the wool schedule of the Tariff Act, instead of confining themselves to the elimination of the specific duties on raw wool and the compensatory duties on the manufacture thereof, as was proposed by Mr. Springer in the Bill introduced by him. It was the belief of Mr. Springer and a few of his colleagues on the Committee that a Bill to make the raw materials free, leaving the protective duties on the manufactured articles just as they were arranged by the last Congress, would have a good chance to pass the Senate, as well as the House, and that at a subsequent and more opportune time the rates on the manufactured articles could be attacked. This proposition, however, did not meet with the approval of those who insist that no backward step shall be taken in the fight for tariff reform; and in obedience with the demands of these gentlemen, the ad valorem duties on manufactures of wool are to be cut down. At the conference of the Democratic members of the Committee, held yesterday, the Bill was practically agreed upon, and it is expected that at the regular meeting of the Committee, to be held on Tuesday, it will be submitted, when the Republicans will be given an opportunity to examine it. It is customary for the minority of the Committee to make no factious opposition to a Bill upon which the majority has decided, and it is probable, therefore that the Bill will be reported to the House as soon as the majority and minority reports can be prepared. Mr. Stevens, of Massachusetts, a member of the Ways and Means Committee, is reported as having said that the Bill does not suit some of the members, but they were obliged to submit to the arrangement as the best thing that could be obtained. There was an effort to reduce all duties below those fixed by the Mills Bill, which prescribed a uniform rate of 40 per cent. ad valorem, but this was abandoned as being too great a step forward in the work of tariff reform. Mr. Stevens is a large manufacturer of wollen goods who advocates free wool, but who desires to maintain a fair rate of duty upon the manufactures of wool.

As it now stands, specific duties prescribed in the wool schedule are abolished in all cases where such duties are in addition to the ad valorem rates imposed upon the same articles. The specific rates of the existing law range from 11 cents per lb. to 36 cents per lb. on the raw materials, and this duty is imposed upon the manufactured articles as "compensatory" for the duty upon the raw materials, and reaches as high as 44 cents per lb., as in the case of woollen and worsted cloths, knit fabrics, &c., composed of the higher grades of wool and worsted. These specific duties being removed from the raw materials, the corresponding or "compensatory" duties are removed from the manufactured articles. The rates agreed upon are as follow:—Woollen and worsted yarn, 35 per cent. ad valorem, a reduction of 5 per cent. There is a uniform reduction of 5 per cent. in the ad valorem rates on blankets and flannel for underwear.

On women's and children's dress goods, coat linings, Italian cloths, &c., the rate is reduced from 40 per cent. to 35 per cent. Carpetings of wool flax, or cotton, or composed partly of either, which now pay 50 per cent., are reduced to 30 per cent.

CRUELTY TO BRITISH SEAMEN.

Last month public feeling was aroused in our city to such a degree by the case of the steamer British Queen that the owners deemed it prudent to suspend the Naval Court order to try the officers and men for refusing to go to Rio Janeyro, and to cancel the charter and order the vessel to another port. It will be remembered that the sister-ship British Prince lost 20 hands by Yellow-fever, out of 23 on board. We need hardly add that numbers of vessels at Rio and Santos are derelict, every one on board having died. The Rio News says that the number of deaths daily is so great that the authorities cannot find grave-diggers.

Under these circumstances we strongly advise the officers and men of the Olympo to refuse to go to Rio.

Buenos Ayres,
April 9th.

To the Editor of the STANDARD,

Dear Sir,

May we venture to ask your advice, as a fellow-countryman, in the following matter?

Previously to leaving the home port the crew of the s. s. Olympo inquired if the ship was going to Rio Janeyro, as, in case she did so, no officer or engineer would go in her. They were assured by the owners' representative that she was not going there.

On arrival it is found that the steamer is to load here for Rio Janeyro on the discharge of her outward cargo being completed, which will be in about a week's time. We have all given notice in writing that in the event of the ship proceeding to Rio we will not go in her.

Kindly inform us how far we are justified in acting as we have done, and trusting that we do not appeal for your advice in vain,

We are, dear Sir,
Your obedient servants,
The Officers and Engineers,
S. s. Olympo.

BARADERO RAFFLE.

8th April.

Mr. Editor,

I have the pleasure to send you the notice lately published concerning the Baradero Raffle, which is plainly visible to the public at all the agencies, in any one of which the gentleman who complains in your periodical of to-day might have informed himself.

The party interested may call at the Oficina de Transacciones de la "Sociedad Rural," Cangallo 833, from 1 to 5 p.m., where he will receive his money, on returning the ticket, if he is tired of keeping it.

By making this known you will greatly oblige.

Yours truly.

RAILWAY ITEMS.

The Compañia General de Trasportes has offered to the National Railway Board to sell the rolling-stock which the Andine Railway has leased from the Company. In the meantime the N.R. EDITOR'S ...

This will be a great night for the British Hospital. From what we saw and heard yesterday, the old Operai Hall will be quite unable to hold the crowd intent on hearing Mr. Ward's lecture. Everybody and his wife and family and cousins and aunts will be there. The hour is 8.15 p.m.; but we fully expect to see the Hall crammed an hour earlier. The lecture will only take an hour and a half, so there will be lots of time to get home early. Every cent of the proceeds (less rent of Hall and petty expenses) goes to the Hospital.

Forty-eight hours more, and the world will know who is to be the next Argentine President. The political prisoners are now allowed by the President of the Republic to see their friends, and the latter take liberal advantage of the privilege.

There is a splendid bill out for the Autumn Races of the Rovers' Polo Club, to come off on the grounds of the Club this day week. There are eleven events on the card. "The Rovers" Club, Challenge Cup, presented by Mr. R. Mackill, will be competed for at this meeting by playing members of the Club under conditions already advertised. Copies of these conditions can be obtained by applying to the Hon. Secretary.

We have to thank Captain Brown of the Coleridge for the most liberal offering of European illustrated papers we have received this year. They come in nicely for the approaching holidays.

The Western Railway has an important Holy Week Excursion advertizement in another column.

Dr. Petty's numerous patients should take notice of his removal to 72 Rivadavia, Belgrano, (corner of Plaza.)

Our on'Change editor has thrown us the following toothsome financial bones and scraps from London exchanges, which he refuses to touch himself, not being hungry:—"The attempt to stimulate South American securities does not make much progress either among speculators or investors. "What, buy Argentines?" exclaimed a solid man the other day; "I'd as soon put money into Allsopp Ordinary or British East Africa shares, or Manchester Canal securities." Just so; all of these investments resting under the same sort of suspicion—the doubt whether it is possible for them to ever pay interest, small or large. While I share this scepticism to a considerable extent, I am inclined to think that the time is not far off when a little speculation in Argentine bonds will bring grist to the mill. Not by holding the pesky things; O dear, no! But the great folks who have a living financial interest in the credit of the unfortunate Republic must take action to support it before very long, and when they do there will be a nice little jump up until the effort dies out.

"While speaking of Foreign Railways, it is wonderful to notice how investors come back to an early love directly she shows signs of meeting them half-way. The recovery in B.A.G.S., Rosarios, and even Central Argentines, together with the recent fall in the gold premium at Buenos Ayres, is attracting the attention of those who remember the old charms of 10 and 12 per cent. dividends.

"I remember your buying Great Southern for me at 112 and selling them at 212," remarked a client to his broker yesterday, adding, "and that was almost the only good deal I ever made. Central Argentines, too; thank goodness they were sold. I notice the traffic receipts have been a little better for the past two or three weeks, and the gold premium going down." Probably this hope has struck many who are in the same plight. But Argentine rails are tricky investments, and a waiting policy will still be the most prudent."

Rumours of a revolutionary kick-up in Tucuman and Catamarca were floating about yesterday; but the Governor of the former province, Mr. Prosperous Garcia, telegraphs that it is only a "montonera" affair, of no moment.

We are requested to say that the Boca Mission Hall will be closed to-morrow, and there will be no Sunday school nor service in either English or Spanish, owing to the unsettled state of affairs. After to morrow it is expected that the usual meetings will be held.

The ball and supper given on Thursday night at George Mercer's, by Mr. Cook, of the firm of Lamport and Holt, was a very sumptuous affair. Contrary to custom, the festivities began with the supper, an innovation highly approved of by the older guests. Four long tables were laid for 350 guests, amongst them a great number of ladies, including most of the members of the Ladies' Club. The President of the Republic and Cabinet Ministers sent notes of apology, owing to the ticklish state of political affairs. Furlotti's fine orchestra did the music, and dancing was kept up with great spirit till dawn. It was in every way a splendid entertainment.

The Capital reports a funny wheat case there which was at first put down as a swindle. Some colonists ordered a well-known broker to sell wheat for them at not less than $2000. He did the business so well that he obtained $3000, and at once telegraphed to his principals "Wheat sold for $3000. I am off." The idiots of farmers at once took it into their bucolic craniums that the broker was "off" with their shinplasters, and wired to the authorities to arrest him, which was done. The poor man had no intention of bolting. The buyer of the grain was a Mr. Pepper, and the maligned broker declares that the business was rather too peppery for him to like a repetition of it. The owners of the wheat might have had sufficient nous to know that if the broker had really intended to vanish with their rag money, he would not have telegraphed to tell them so. He has commenced an action for damages against them.

The subscribers to the shares of the Bank of the Nation on the opening day were few and "morose." Only 2220 shares were applied for. "Why don't the men propose?" say the girls anxious to change the names their fathers gave them; and, "Why don't the public

There is a chance of a mitigation of the 'changador' nuisance at the street corners. It appears that, of 2000 of these tough, rough and gruff customers registered in the Municipal books only 450 have taken out their license; and the Lord Mayor has ordered the police to prevent those without a 'chapa' standing at the street corners. This won't prevent them carrying on their business without paying for a license.

Messrs. Sommer and Co. want the Lord Mayor to allow them to make a public trial of their wonderful carpet-cleaning apparatus. We second the motion. Their machine is like a Nasmyth steam hammer, and can shake up the thickest carpet or a sheet of thin paper, without doing the least injury to either.

It turns out that the fresh yellow fever cases reported on board the Rosario an hour before she sailed on Wednesday were "shams", got up by some of the crew in order that they might be landed on Flores Island and so escape another visit to the infested port of Rio on the way home. It is supposed that all the other cases were of the same jocose kind, as the patients were all well enough to be sent on board the Rosario before she sailed. Good. But what about the port doctors who took the cases for Yellow Jack? And what about the tremendous fuss and fume made? Verily, as a distinguished Englishman now here said to us yesterday, "There seems to be an intensely comic side to even the most serious things in this splendid land of your adoption". So there is. The cut-and-dryness of enfeebled Europe does not suit here.

The little barber is none the less a strapping fellow.

A prison warden should not be judged by the company he keeps.

We are requested to suggest to the members of the Lomas Athletic Club that they should learn by heart an advertizement in another column in reference to the aforesaid deserving institution.

Uncle Sam's House of Representatives has just passed a Bill prohibiting absolutely the entrance of Chinamen into the United States. We thought you considered all men equal, dear Uncle.

Mr. Frederking, formerly partner in the Carabassa Bank, is the new Argentine Consul (without salary) in Vienna. He sailed for Europe on Thursday.

Mr. George Maney, United States Minister in Montevideo, is about to return to his native land, and has addressed an elequent farewell letter to Dr. Espinosa, Minister of Foreign Affairs. In it he expresses his conviction that revolution has died out for ever amongst our frisky neighbours.

We rejoice to see that the Argentine horses sent to England for sale have a strong touch of the national characteristic, "dignidad," and stand none of the humiliating handling and impertinent examination that their fellows born under a monarchy so meekly submit to. A case recently occurred at Sheffield in which a butcher bought an Argentine "potro" that did not meet his expectations, and brought an action to get his money back. A local paper thus describes the affair:—"Unbroken South American horses object to have their teeth examined. A bold butcher, undeterred by the auctioneer's warning to "keep away from the animals and not to touch them," made an attempt to get a sight of their mouths, but he "very quickly retired," having received a practical illustration of the animals' habit of putting down a forefoot on anyone who comes near them. It was necessary to catch them first with long ropes—an operation which even the South American attendants found rather difficult. Under these circumstances it is hardly surprising that the plaintiff found himself wrong as to the ages of his purchases and so wanted to have his money back. "Why did you bid?" he was asked, and it was suggested that perhaps he wanted to have "a little Buffalo Bill show all to himself." The difficulty in the plaintiff's case was that the conditions of sale expressly declined under the circumstances to guarantee age, sex, or colour, besides which the auctioneer had announced from his rostrum that purchasers must take the animals "as they took their wives"—that is, "for better or worse." On this ground the jury decided that the plaintiff must make the best of his bargain."

A practice game of Football, the first of the season, will be played at Quilmes to-morrow (Sunday) on the ground of the Athletic Club, when all the members are requested to take part. The train leaving Central at 2 o'clock will arrive in time for the kick off at 3 o'clock.

"How old are you?" the cross-examing counsel asked of a lady who was called to testify.

"I'm old enough," she replied with exceeding promptness, "to know that it is miserably bad manners for a man to ask a lady how old she is."

The Court let the answer stand.

The English, as always, takes the foremost place;
Honour and glory's the emblem of the race;
Ev'ry man will do, or die, when duty calls,
Englishmen are ready whate'er befalls;
No matter when, where, or how, his turn shall chance,
Gains he the summit without a backward glance;
Let glory but lead the way, through paths the worst,
In love, war, and trade, he always must be first;
So here, 'mongst the num'ious stores, we're proud to say,
High above the rest "The English" leads the way.

Dear Sirs—

"I have tried HAYWARD'S "PASTE" DIP on my Sheep, and have pleasure in bearing testimony to ITS EFFICACY AS A DIP. I need have no hesitation in recommending it generally as a Cure for Scab, without discolouring or damaging the Wool.

The "PASTE" is in my opinion preferable to the Powder, and will probably have a larger sale than the latter."

Yours very truly
(Signed)

JOHN KELLIE.

It has been proved by many important Estancieros that HAYWARD'S PASTE is more convenient to use than any other Dip, being already mixed and dissolving in any kind of water. It makes a smooth soapy bath which adheres well to the Fleece and leaves the wool clean and soft.

ON 'CHANGE.

Friday, April 8th.

The publication of the Federal Judge's order to release two of the political prisoners, and the energetic answer of the Minister of War refusing to obey the judicial order, was the topic of the day on 'Change, and gold rose ten cents in the ounce. In spite of the rise in the ounce, the market ruled very heavy all morning and resisted the rise in a stubborn manner. About fifteen thousand ounces changed hands at the first ring; the price opened at 56.30, rose to 56.40, fell to 56.10, and closed at 56.30, say 246 o/o premium. Fifteen hundred sovereigns were sold at $17.40 to 17.45, say 246¼ o/o premium. The market closed top-heavy, as if on the eve of tottering. The croakings in the hall were loud this morning, but they made little or no impression on the speculation.

With regard to the question between the Federal Judge and the Minister of War, who in this emergency represents the Government, it may be stated that the Press is not at liberty to offer any opinion under a state of siege. Thus, so far as the columns of newspapers are concerned, the question at issue cannot be discussed. The financial market, meantime, in other words the whole commercial community, or the majority of same, reflect their opinion in the gold quotation. Were the Government wrong, there can be no doubt that gold would have bolted to-day; the rise of ten cents in the midst of general heaviness shows that there are few misgivings as to the policy and strength of the Government in the emergency. The market is essentially conservative, and applauds any measures tending to preserve order.

Some people seem very anxious to spread an impression that the elections of the 10th inst., and the temporary suspension of the state of siege that must be decreed on that day, will lead to sanguinary disturbances in the city. As a rule, when disorder is expected, the most perfect order is maintained, and in the present instance it is known for a fact that the so-called opposition party will not even enter the lists to make a struggle. People may rest satisfied that the sanguinary scenes of the 7th of last February will not be repeated next Sunday, and the elections will come off in the midst of profound peace, whether the opposition vote or not; it would be better for all if the opposition did vote and make some show of strength.

The decree of the Government dismissing the application of the manager of the British Bank of South America in favor of the deluded London shareholders of the National Bank was no surprise to the market. But what does surprise the market is that the Credito Publico Nacional, to whom the matter was referred, was not even summoned to discuss the matter. The state of siege may, perhaps, account for this oversight; at all events, the application of the London shareholders of the National Bank could not be countenanced and the Government decree settles the matter. The shareholders may telegraph from London to sell their shares and buy Patriotic Bonds—the best way out of the difficulty.

Telegrams from London and Paris announce that the news of the declaration of state of siege in this republic produced a bad impression at first, but subsequent advices removed the distrust that was rampant, and Argentine stocks improved. There is no foundation to the report that the first messages sent from here on Saturday last gave a harrowing account of civil war and fighting in the streets of this city; at least, so far as telegrams to Europe are concerned this was not the case. The best proof of the excellent impression caused by the energetic policy of the Government is the cablegram that came via Galveston announcing the views of the English and continental press on the state of affairs in Argentina. The New York Herald perhaps may have published some sensational details of this "coup d'etat."

Patriotic Bonds were slightly firmer to-day, opening at 59.60 and closing firm at 59.90. The stock appears to be quite indifferent to the progress of the subscription to the capital of the Banco de la Nacion Argentina. A fair amount of shares of the French Bank changed hands at 31½ and 32 gold. National Cedulas B were sold at 93. La Plata Cedulas were very firm; the closing rates were 28.90 for G, 30½ for J, 29.50 for M and N, and 29.40 for O.

Exchange ruled dull at yesterday's rates. Discounts continue very difficult.

The following is a summary of the business effected in stocks and shares at the first ring to-day:—

The following extract from a New-York paper devoted to South American interests will be read with interest. It is amusing to read that Chili has the larger part of Patagonia:—"It is only a few years since the territory we knew on the maps as Patagonia was described as a desolate region, inhabited by naked giants of prodigious strength and reputed cannibalistic proclivities. The Argentine Republic and Chili divided it between them, Chili receiving the larger portion, and, under their rule, it has developed wonderfully as a grazing country. At first, grants of lands were made to settlers, but no more public land is now given away, and settlers are obliged to lease such tracts as they wish for, at the moderate rental of four-fifths of a cent an acre per annum. A twenty-year lease is given, and, as the profits of stock-raising are very large, the tenant can generally secure a fortune before his lease expires. The method of doing this is to select a tract of, perhaps, 50,000 acres, the rent of which will be $400 a year. Four thousand ewes, with young, are then purchased, at an average of $3 apiece, and turned out upon the land. At the end of a year there will be 8,000 sheep, besides a crop of 8,000 fleeces of wool. The wool owing to the coldness of the climate, is long, and of good quality, and the fleeces are heavy, weighing six to eight pounds each, and worth on an average eighteen cents a pound in England. The next year, the ratio of increase will not be so large, but an average of 60 per cent annual profit can be counted upon, so it is said."

Telegrams from Rio announce another slump in exchange. The rate on London is now at 11⅜d.

The following real-estate sales are reported:—

Calle Zeballos No. 269, ten varas front by 36 deep, for 18,000$%.

Importantisimo remate de Haciendas, 6,000 vacas mestizas al corte. 450 id muy mestizas con toros puros, 3,200 ovejas, 400 yeguas; por tener que desalojar el campo.

El Jueves 21 de Abril

a las 2 en punto de la tarde

Remataremos por orden terminante de su dueño en nuestra casa Alsina 482, las haciendas arriba indicadas del establecimiento Santa Maria, partido de Pehuajó; campo conocido por de Rufino Basavilbaso.

Para los que deseen ver la hacienda les indicamos que este establecimiento queda á 6 leguas de Pehuajó, 3 de la estacion Guanaco y 12 del 9 de Julio.

El remate se efectuara en lotes. La hacienda se distribuye así:—

Rodeo de la Noria, 3,500 vacas al corte, mestizas; rodeo id id, 2,300 vacas al corte mestizas; rodeo mestizo, 450 animales vacunos al corte, con toros puros (muy mestizos.)

Majada num. 1—1,600 ovejas mestizas Rambouillet.

Majada num. 2—1,600 id id

Yeguarizo—Manada padrillo oscuro num. 1. 100 animales al corte; manada padrillo num. 2, 100 id id id; manada padrillo zaino num. 3, 100 id id id; manada padrillo tordillo num. 4, 100 id id id.

La venta es forzosa por tener que desalojar el campo y todo comprador sin excepcion abonara el importe de su compra al recibir la orden de entrega.

Como de costumbre, si el importe pagado excediera de la hacienda recibida se le devolvera el importe o abonara el resto en caso faltara.

Llamamos la atencion de los estancieros o interesados sobre esta hacienda que tiene varios años de mestizacion y de muy lindo tipo, rogandoles la vean o hagan ver en la seguridad de que les halagara.

Por mas datos a nuestra casa Alsina 480 y 482.

HORSFORDS

PHOSPHATIC

BAKING POWDER

Ordinary Baking Powders are made either of Cream Tartar or Alum, Cream Tartar powders leave in the bread Rochelle Salts, a continuous use of which is not desirable. Alum powders are condemned by physicians as unhealthful. Neither of these powders add anything of nutritive value to the bread, and both produce, biscuit, cake, etc., that are dry and tasteless when cold. Professor Horsford's Phosphatic Baking Powder leaves in the Bread etc., the life sustaining Phosphates of which the flour is deprived in the process of bolting, and which are necessary to maintain health.

CANNON'S

which obtained the only Prize medal at the Exhibition in Edinburgh 1890, and the eulogiums of all the Agricultural Press at the Royal Agricultural Show at Doncaster in 1891, where were exhibited Skins dressed with Cannon's Dip and those undressed showing a difference in value of over 25/ per dozen in favor of Cannon's Fluid. These Skins will be exhibited at the Feria of the Sociedad Rural at Dolores, Chascomus, Balcarce, Azul etc.

This Dip has the following advantages:—It never stains the wool, but augments the growth and ensures the highest value in the market. It is easy to use, being readily soluble in cold water, and hand curing is rarely required after.
